

Indigenous Intellectuals Have You implemented Labels or Notices into your work (Part I)

April April April

U major update in T H Notices with ArchivesSpace. Shaw demonstrated the Local Contexts ArchivesSpace community member and Local Contexts Hub in this webinar.

R Anderson. (Penobscot), cultural authority within institutions in F

Whakapapa ngā Iti Kahurangi

We ask you to acknowledge these truths and join us in our commitment to acting as settler-colonialism, Local Contexts was developed to create effective and recognized knowledge systems. We believe that naming and addressing the violence of settler-colonialism and its ongoing effects is an essential part of creating a more just future.

Local Contexts is committed to Indigenous sovereignty and ethical data governance; we are committed to acting as an Indigenous community and recognizing the knowledge systems of our ancestors.

In this webinar, Anderson discussed the importance of setting the stage for meaningful conversations about Indigenous knowledge systems. He emphasized the need for humility and respect in these discussions, as well as the importance of acknowledging the knowledge systems of our ancestors.

We ask you to acknowledge these truths and join us in our commitment to acting as an Indigenous community and recognizing the knowledge systems of our ancestors.

In this webinar, Anderson discussed the importance of setting the stage for meaningful conversations about Indigenous knowledge systems. He emphasized the need for humility and respect in these discussions, as well as the importance of acknowledging the knowledge systems of our ancestors.

We ask you to acknowledge these truths and join us in our commitment to acting as an Indigenous community and recognizing the knowledge systems of our ancestors.

In this webinar, Anderson discussed the importance of setting the stage for meaningful conversations about Indigenous knowledge systems. He emphasized the need for humility and respect in these discussions, as well as the importance of acknowledging the knowledge systems of our ancestors.